

Endocrinology
William Kovacs, M.D.
Interim Chief

Department of Internal Medicine

Chief - Division of Endocrinology (09-147)

The UT Southwestern Department of Internal Medicine invites nominations and applications for the position of the Division Chief of Endocrinology at the rank of Associate or Full Professor. This position represents a major leadership appointment in our institution, and one of the premier positions in Endocrinology in the country.

The Endocrinology Division has a rich tradition at UT Southwestern. There continues to be great strength in steroid hormone biology, metabolism, diabetes, and human genetics of lipodystrophy. Moreover, with other investigators at UTSW, the faculty contributes importantly to an NIH-funded Roadmap grant focusing on obesity, satiety and type II diabetes. We look for the Division to continue to expand both clinical and academic programs as we enter a phase of significant institutional growth. Further, the collaborative environment of UTSW will be a major resource for this development; UTSW includes among its active faculty 4 Nobel Laureates, 17 members of the National Academy of Science, 21 members of the Institute of Medicine and 13 fellows of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

Qualified applicants should have an M.D. or M.D./ Ph.D. degree, certification by the American Board of Internal Medicine, and a background warranting appointment at the rank of Associate or Full Professor. We seek candidates with an outstanding national reputation in academic Endocrinology who will provide administrative support, leadership, and academic direction to this important Division.

Please forward nominations and applications to the address below. Applications should include a curriculum vitae and may be sent by regular or electronic mail. UT Southwestern is committed to diversity and equality in all its educational and employment programs.
